1. "The great Soviet lie of the 'destruction of the cult of the individual' has captured the minds of peoples of the world with the exception of the slaves who inhabit the Soviet republics themselves. I am a Georgian. I know and have felt the burning desire for freedom, independence and justice which is buried deep in the heart of every non-Russian enslaved by the Russian Empire.
2. "Since the early days of the Russian Empire, the plans for conquest formulated by Peter the Great have been the driving force behind Russian foreign policy. The enslavement of whole nations for the benefit of the Russian state is not new. It happened throughout the history of imperial Russia and was continued by the masters of the Soviet Union. The USSR is not a union of nations, but the Russian empire. Fifteen members of that 'union' are enslaved nations, with a Russian master.
3. "Khrushchev and Bulganin have raved on and on concerning the Stalin Cult ....the cult of the individual. They have publicly decried the sins of Stalin as if they were his very own. Stalin was no more guilty than Lenin whose dream of world domination began to be a reality. The imperialistic aims of Lenin became the sacred goal of Stalin and his cohorts. Neither Khrushchev nor Bulganin nor any of the henchmen who surrounded Stalin during his lifetime were opposed to Stalin's world conquest. They implemented his dreams of world domination. Since the death of their 'great leader' the Khrushchev Bulganin 'collective leadership' has not at any time altered their course of world conquest and enslavement of peoples.
4. "I am a Georgian, and as a Georgian, I say that Stalin was known by my people for what he was; a renegade, a murderer and an enemy of the Georgian nation. He, although a Georgian, was responsible for the murder of thousands of innocent people in Georgia in 1921. Like Khrushchev, he murdered and plundered whole nations for the benefit of Russian, Muscovite imperialism.
5. "As is well known, large scale demonstrations, strikes and violence occurred in Tiflis and other cities of Georgia soon after the 20th Communist Party Congress. Contrary to the pronouncements of the Soviet press and official government pronouncements, these riots were not pro-Stalin demonstrations, for we Georgians hated Stalin...they were demonstrations of an enslaved people who desired to be freed from Soviet enslavement. Many hundreds of innocent people were murdered by Soviet troops and security forces while hundreds of others were taken away from their homes in the Caucasus to be sent to slave labor camps in Siberia for taking part in these so-called pro-Stalin demonstrations.

6. "In actuality, the demonstrations of March and April 1956 were demonstrations calling for Georgian independence, in fact, on 26 May 56, spontaneous demonstrations throughout Georgia declared that day as Georgian independence day. People carried banners and placards calling for Georgian independence. These demonstrators were shot down in the streets by Russian soldiers under the command of General Antonov. Georgian soldiers refused to shoot down their countrymen...many people were slaughtered...others were arrested and sent away to Siberia. Foreign correspondents and diplomats were forbidden to travel to Georgia. Tiflis was closed to all travelers.
7. "Khrushchev's pronouncements about Georgian demonstrations in defense of Stalin's memory were lies. The whole world must be told the truth, that the demonstrators were rioting for freedom and independence, not to protect the name and honor of a man hated by every Georgian." the ORIGINAL DOCUMENT IS UNCLASSIFIED.]
